After the result of Mr. Lincoln's election was known, there Mr. Lincoln's election was known, there was innugurated a system of chicanery and fraud, the parallel of which the world never witnessed. agitation rises higher and higher, until nearly all the Southern States are forced out of the Union, and are engaged in the same unholy warfare; adopt the same political errors, and glory in their shame, and in the language of Holy Writ, "Say the evil shall not overtake nor prevent us."—

God has endowed all men with certain inalienable rights, among which are life, libertly, and the pursuit of happiness—the main pillar of Freedom. The Southern Confederacy stands not upon that rock; they have built upon the curse of Ham; they carry the mark of Cain; they arrogate to themselves a God-given right, to trample under their feet the children of Alrica, into whose veins the best blood of the South is being transferred; these, too, to our land with blood. Let that doctrine prevail; let the supremacy of slavery be acknowledged, and what will be the practical state of things in the North? What but a duplicate of what already exists in the South! A reign of terror is upon them—a terror verying upon the worst them—a terror verging upon the worst days of the French revolution; and the de-mon of despotism now crushing out their souls seeks to spread her raven wings over the fair land of the North. What have we at the North to expect at the hands of those traitors who have ignored the rights of their obsequious friends? What, but that their obsequious friends? What, but that our rights, both civil and religious, will pass from ourselves to an oligarchy surtained by military power. Our fathers bled upon the field of battle that the sacred inheritance of freedom might descend to their children and their childrens' children forever. ### Hon. Joseph Holt to Kentucky Sol-diers-A Brilliant Address.

Last Wednesday afternoon, Kentucky's honored son, ex-Secretary Holt, delivered a brilliant address to the Kentucky loyal soldiers encamped at the Falls of the Ohio. nent as at this moment. We have heard of a devil of more than usual malignity—the most devilish of all the demon crew; other devils retired with dignity when bidden; this one sought to kill, threw down his subject and rent him sore, leaving him as one dead. Such was the devil that took passessing of the Southern wing of the Device of the pressure on our columns will not permit us to publish the whole of this fine production. We give the most striking passages. Mr. Holv's manly and complete endorsement of the course of the Administration will attract particular attention. It is in refreshing contrast to the carping tones of politicians and papers of his party in the North. They may well blush to be outdone by a Southerner at such a juncture as this, in readiness to drop party for patriotism:

gurated all over the South, and thieving and robbery became the order of the day. Forts, navy-yards, ships, arsenals and municious of war were stolen; United States mints and treasuries were robbed, and war with all its baneful concomitants stalked abroad.

But who are the transgressors in the latting convictions to congrm. Four resulting convictions to congruence the convictions to congruence the convictions

" NEUTRALITY. Now that the booming of the cannon of treason and the cry of men stricken unto and threatens the destiny of the fairest heritage on which the sun has ever shone?—
This fair Liberty Tree whose branches reach from the Pacific to the Atlantic, and proposes to shelter by her boughs, and protect by her ceautiful and crescent foliage thousands who may seek an asylum in her shades. Who, I ask, are trying to demolsh this fair temple of Liberty, and deprive thousands who may seek an asylum in ner thousands who, I ask, are trying to demolsish this fair temple of Liberty, and deprive all classes in community of the blessings so richly inherited by us from our worthy so richly inherited by us from our worthy Examine the history of the last jewels of trade against the life of our country.

Mississippi, they were regarded as fanatical and revolutionary. Now they are the basis of political opinions in all the seceding States of the South. When he was elected Governor in his own State he declared in his inaugural, that the people should submit to no measures on the part of Congress which should weaken or restrict alsevery, this was January 10th, 1850-] or even express the convictions of the Northern conscience against its nationality; but the rather destroy the Union. Again he gives his views of the Confederacy as follows:

"For the sake of convenience, certain portions of this sovereignty are delegated federation; but, in exercising its powers, all its authority from them. Each State may at pleasure resume the powers that delegated, and then become an independant nation." Thus as early as 1850 these measures were consolidating themselves into an organized plan to break up the Union. Afterwards he wrote to Gov. Seabnoom, of South Carolina, that he intended to propose the call of a Convention to will look to secession." He received the consulting reply that "South Carolina, and the intended to propose the call of a Convention to will look to secession." He received the consulting reply that "South Carolina, After the election of President Lincola, and the election of President Lincola, and the search of the propose of destroying the Usion with the nullification ordinance of South Carolina, After the election of President Lincola, and the election of President Lincola, and the publicly, laid schemes for this same purpose of destroying the Usion with the nullification ordinance of South Carolina, After the election of President Lincola, and the publicly, laid schemes for this same purpose of destroying the Usion with the nullification ordinance of South Carolina, After the election of President Lincola, and the president federation of the propose, and Palment of the propose of destroying the Usion with the nullification ordinance of South Carolina, After the election of President Lincola, and the presi ed Stars and Stripes; the billows of disunion agitation rises higher and higher, until nearly all the Southern States are forced out of the Union, and are accounted to the President has been fully assembled to vail there, they are silenced, and are now unseen, but be assured that by the light of the stars you carry upon your banner, you will find them all.

When, therefore, you enter the South, press lightly upon her gardens and fields; guard sacredly her homes; protect, if need be, at the point of your bayonets, her in-stitutions and her constitutional rights, for you will thereby not only respond fully to the spirit and objects of this war, but you will exert over, alike the oppressed and the infatuated portion of her people, a power to which the most brilliant of your military successes might not attain. But when you meet in battle array those atrocious conspirators, who, at the head of armies, and through woes unutterable, are seeking the rain of our common country, remember that since the sword flamed over the portals of Paradise until now, it has been drawn in no holier cause that that in which you are engaged. Remember, too, the millions whose hearts are breaking under the appailsh of this terrible crime and then anguish of this terrible crime, and then strike boldly, strike in the power of truth and duty, strike with a bound and a shout, well assured that your blows will fall upon ingrates and traitors and parricides, whose lust for power would make of this bright land one vast Golgotha, rather than be baulked of their guilty aims,—and may the God of your fathers give you the vic-

MORE THAN "TWENTY CENTURIES LOOK DOWN UPON YOU. Soldiers, when Napoleon was about to spur on his legious to combat, on the sands of an African desert, pointing them to the Egyptian pyramids that loomed up against the far off horizon, he exclaimed, "from yonder pyramids tweaty centuries behold your actions." The thought was sublime and electric; but you have even more than this. When you shall confront those infuriated hosts, whose battle cry is, "Down with the Government of the United States," let your answering shout he "The Government of the United States," with the Government of the United States," let your answering shout be. "The Government as our fathers made it;" and when you strike, remember that not only, do the good and the great of the past look down upon you from hights infinitely above those of Egyptian pyramids, but that uncounted generations yet to come are looking up to you, and claiming at your bands the unimpaired transmission to them of that priceless heritinge which has been committed to our keeping. I say its unimpared transmission—in all the amplitude of its outlines, in all the symmetry of its pared transmission—in all the amplitude of its outlines, in all the symmetry of its matchless proportions, in all the palpitating fullness of its blessings; not a miserably shrivelad and shattered thing, charred by the fires and torn by the tempests of revolution, and all over polluted and scarred by the bloody poignards of traitors. MANASSAS. The country has indeed lost a battle, but it has not lost its honor, nor its courage, nor its hopes, nor its resolution to conquer. This check has taught us invaluable lessons, which we could not have learned from victory, while the dauntless daring displayed by our volunteers is full of displayed by our volunteers is line or promise for the future. Leonidas himself, while surveying the Persian bost, that, like a troubled sea, swept onward to the pass where he stood, would have been proud of the leadership of such men. We will rapidly recover from this discomfiture which, after all, will serve only to nerve to yet more extraordinary exertions the nine-teen millions of people who have sworn that this republic shall not perish; and perish it will not, perish it cannot, while his oath remains. ATROCITY OF THE REBELLION. When we look away to that scene of carnage, all strewn with the bodies of patriotic men, who courted death for them-selve that their country might live, and then look upon the homes which their fall has rendered desolate forever, we realize what I think the popular heart in its for-bearance has never fully comprehended— the unspeakable and bellish atrocity of this rebellion. It is a perfect saturnalia of de-moniac passion. From the reddened wa-ters of Bull's Run, and from the gory field Manassas, there is now going up an appeal to God and to millions of exasperated men against those fleuds in human shape, who, drank with the orgies of an infernal ambition, are filling to its brim the cup of a na-tion's sorrows. Woe, woe, I say, to these traitors when this appeal shall be answer-WENTHORY'S GOD SPEED.

When you move, as soon you may, to the seat of war, Kentucky, despite the whispered caution of politicians, will cheer you on, and will bang with prayerful soyou on, and will hang with prayerful solicitude over you, alike upon your march and amid the heady currents of battle.—
Loyal men everywhere are exclaiming, "God speed you," and "All hail to your courage and patriotism." Glory beckons you onward and upward, and could the illustrious dead hear in the graves where they sleep, your every foot-fall, as you advance to your country's battlefields, would be music to their ears.

The above prospectus has up to this date been published in only one of our leading papers for ten days. No extra efforts to get stock taken have been made; yet the public so well appreciate the soundness of the enterprise, that over two hundred thousand dellars of the stock has already been taken. We would briefly state that the shares are $25 each, paid in full, without further liability; transferable by delivery; registered only when, dividends are received. Any porson having money to spare, can, by the purchase of shares in the Missouri Mining Company make an invesiment that will pay largely, and hold stock that is readily converted into each without loss as All communications to the President prumptly snewered.
